

Stephan Padlewski
Regional Marketing Leader, EMEA
DuPont Photovoltaic Solutions

After completing a PhD in Physics at the University of Cambridge, UK in 1991, Stephan joined DuPont, where he has primarily been involved in new technology and market development initiatives in the electronics industry, with applications ranging from printed circuit boards, integrated circuitry packaging, Organic Light Emitting Diodes and photovoltaics. Stephan is based in Geneva, Switzerland where he leads the DuPont Photovoltaic Solutions business development & marketing activities across Europe, the Middle East and Africa.